COMMENT OF THE DAY

Gesture By HK Needed

HONGKONG'S first reaction to the inability of the London tripartite cotton conference to agree to any specific limitations of duty-free imports from India and Pakistan is probably relief, but it would be a failure if the Colony need no longer consider the prospect of "voluntary restrictions". The statement put out by the Cotton Board suggests that a solution is still possible.

But its delayed release and its carefully qualified statements also betray a note of disappointment that no finality has yet been reached. Had the delegations from India and Pakistan agreed on a formula for limiting imports, under the terms of its understanding with Sir Frank Lee, the Hongkong cotton industry would have been hard put to refuse restrictions.

Vulnerable

BUT even if India and Pakistan continue to be evasive on the question of an agreeable formula, the Colony's chances of escaping limitations are not bright. Lancashire's pressure on the British Government is bound to increase and it seems that if the three Asian exporters Hongkong is the most vulnerable to any Government demand that imports should be limited.

So far the British Government has not made a direct request for limitations though its willingness to send a Board of Trade official to the Colony recently indicates its concern. It might be argued that India and Pakistan, which apply duties on British imports, are far less deserving of imperial preference than Hongkong but the independent status of their governments is a guarantee of immunity to pressure. The Colony is in no position to withstand a direct demand from the Home Government should it come, even though at present only the local industry is involved in negotiations.

No Valid Case

IT has been said many times before that there is really no valid case for limiting Hongkong exports to the United Kingdom. Lancashire's plan is hardship. If the Colony's exports are limited, together with India's and Pakistan's, the British cotton industry's immediate plight may be relieved but then the hardship will only be transferred to Hongkong. And it seems most unreasonable that the Colony should be penalised for its enterprise in developing a vigorous cotton industry when its development was largely dictated by the need to shore up the economy following the imposition of the trade embargo.

Having said this, however, it must be stressed that it would be unwise of the Hongkong industry to stand pat on its very reasonable defence. It would be far better to make a gesture to Lancashire, reserving, of course, the right to resume unrestricted exports at any time should the ceiling prove damaging to the Colony's economy, than to have either to negotiate at a disadvantage with Lancashire, Pakistan and India or to accept an unpopular quota dictated by the present or any future British Government at the instigation of the Home cotton industry.

ARMY COUP D'ETAT IN ALGERIA

Civil And Military Committee Of Public Safety Established

Algiers, May 13. The French Army took over control in Algeria tonight. After a day of rioting against M. Pierre Pflimlin's attempt to form a Government in Paris, paratroopers seized the Algiers radio station and General Raoul Salan, Commander of the French Forces in Algeria went to the microphone to declare:

Paris Demonstrators Try To March On National Assembly

Paris, May 13. Police riot squads baton-charged and broke up a demonstration by several thousand ex-servicemen who this evening tried to march on the National Assembly, shouting "Keep Algeria French" and "Throw the Deputies into the Seine".

Lebanese Govt Not To Resign

Beirut, May 14. Lebanon, scene of heavy rioting in the last five days, today awaited a reply to its protests to the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic against "massive interference in our affairs by intruders." Reporting despatch of the protest yesterday, Dr Charles Malik, Lebanese Foreign Minister, said six Lebanese frontier officials on the border with Syria had been killed by "500 persons from across the border." He said that three groups had been captured trying to enter the Lebanon aboard small boats from the Egyptian-controlled Gaza strip on the Mediterranean east coast, south of Israel. Dr Malik said at a press conference that President Camille Chamoun and the Lebanese Government were fully determined to defend the safety, freedom and independence of Lebanon, and would not resign.

US Advises Lebanon To Go To UN

Washington, May 13. US officials suggested today that the Lebanese crisis should go to the United Nations if it worsens. The State Department itself refused to comment directly on Lebanese President Camille N. Chamoun's reported statement to the Western Big Three Ambassadors that his country is "the object of attack from abroad." Press Officer Joseph W. Reap said the State Department had no official information on Chamoun's statement.

Officials said privately that the Eisenhower Doctrine for protecting Middle East countries against aggression by nations controlled by international Communism likely would not apply in the current Lebanese crisis. They said a natural course for Lebanon to follow, if the crisis her security is threatened, would be to ask the United Nations to consider the crisis as a threat to international peace. This would be in line with standard US policy for the United Nations to try to cope with all problems affecting international peace before relying on special measures outside the UN.—United Press.

The demonstrators had marched down the broad Champs Elysees Avenue from the Arc De Triomphe, led by extreme right-wing Deputy Jean-Marie Le Pen, sweeping aside successive police barricades and had fanned out into the Place De La Concorde. The police had hurriedly thrown a barricade of "torches" across the bridge spanning the Seine and separating the Square from the National Assembly.

Thrown Back

The demonstrators tried to force this barricade but were thrown back by the riot squad and the police. The demonstrators broke up and were chased into streets leading off the Square in the direction of the Paris Opera House. Despite the city's ban on horn honking, impatient motorists began to sound their horns adding to the general confusion. Overhead hovered a police helicopter, which had reported the progress of the demonstrators down the Champs Elysees. A Radical Deputy, Constant Lecoq, approached the barricade thrown in front of the National Assembly. He was carrying no identity papers and despite his protests was hustled into a police van. He was later released.

Fighting

Shortly after the bridge was open to traffic but barricades were still manned in front of the National Assembly. By this time, demonstrators who had fled towards the Opera House, clashed with police near the Tunisian Embassy, near the Place Vendôme. Fighting between demonstrators and police broke out in the city's fashionable shopping centre, in the Rue De La Paix, and the Rue St Honoré. Some demonstrators tore indicator boards from buses to use as weapons against the police. Others began to tear up and hurl pieces of the pavement. Other demonstrators were reported to be heading for the Madeleine Church. The demonstration began earlier in the afternoon after a ceremony at the Arc De Triomphe, organised by several ex-servicemen's associations, in memory of the three French soldiers recently executed by Algerian rebels.—France-Press.

Confers

Washington, May 13. Sir Harold Caccia, the British Ambassador, conferred with Mr John Foster Dulles, the Secretary of State, tonight for the second time within a few hours. Topics of discussion were not known, but diplomatic observers took it for granted that the Lebanese and Algerian crises were prime subjects involved.—Reuter.

"I have provisionally taken into my hands the destinies of French Algeria."

His move followed a night of swift developments in which the French paratroop leader, tough General Jacques Massu had set up an 11-man Committee Of Public Safety "to maintain order and avoid bloodshed" and had demanded that "Government of Public Safety" be set up in Paris.

Emergency

In Paris President Rene Coty called an emergency meeting of the outgoing government, of M. Felix Gaillard and the French Chief-of-Staff, General Paul Ely, and M. Pflimlin suspended the National Assembly session called to vote on his bid for premier-ship.

In his demand for the formation of a "Government of Public Safety" in France, General Massu said this alone was capable of maintaining Algeria as an integral party of France. The General had earlier set up a civil and military committee of public safety in Algiers under his leadership "to maintain order and avoid bloodshed." General Massu acted after a day of demonstrations against M. Pierre Pflimlin's attempt to form a Government in which he had seized Government House in Algiers.

TRAVEL BAN

Paris, May 13. The French Interior Ministry said tonight that all travel to Algeria whether of French citizens or foreigners had been suspended. Three British and two American journalists were taken off a night plane to Algiers. The plane, apparently on instructions from the French Interior Ministry, the plane left carrying French journalists. They were given special permission to make the journey.—Reuter.

General Massu, who served in the Free French Forces during World War II under General Charles De Gaulle, said the committee under his leadership was composed of three colonels and a group of seven civilians. The term "Committee of Public Safety" is a reference to an institution set up during the French Revolution. Today it is generally meant to refer to a government of strong national colours and with strong powers which will put an end to party squabbling and defend France's position in North Africa energetically. "The Army to the rescue" was the slogan of the demonstrators in Algiers. General Massu and his paratroopers arrived at the Government House—the Ministry for Algeria.

Telegram

General Massu appeared on the balcony and read a telegram to President Rene Coty in Paris saying: "We inform you of the setting up of a civil and military committee of public safety in Algeria, under my chairmanship—1. General Massu—because of the gravity of the situation and the absolute necessity to maintain order and avoid bloodshed. We demand the creation in Paris of a Government of Public Safety, alone capable of keeping Algeria as an integral part of the metropole." The French settlers seized Government House after battering down the gates with lorries. They swarmed through the building, smashing furniture and burning files and toppled from the roof a bust of "Marianne," symbol of the French Republic.—Reuter.

RAILMEN OFFERED WAGE INCREASE

London, May 14. Leaders of 370,000 railwaymen are meeting here today to decide whether to accept a wage offer or submit to some rank and file demands for a national rail strike.

The chiefs of the National Union of Railwaymen are faced with this decision after last night's offer of a three per cent pay increase by the British Transport Commission. First reaction of the NUR National leaders was that the offer—though less than they sought—gave hope of a settlement.

OUTSPOKEN

A few hours later, however, the London district council of the Union passed a resolution urging the executive to reject the offer and call an immediate strike.

This powerful branch, representing 40,000 members speaks for a tough and outspoken section of the Union which may make its presence felt at today's meeting. The wage increase offered by the Transport Commission, operators of the state rail system, also applies to two other Unions—the 75,000-strong Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and the 67,000-strong Transport and Salaried Staffs Association.

Both these Unions are expected today or tomorrow to accept the three per cent rise—which the Commission proposed should take effect from June 30.

REITERATED

The Commission's offer, made by its chairman Sir Brian Robertson, included a comprehensive inquiry into the whole wage structure on the railways. Sir Brian reiterated to leaders of the three unions, however, the firm view of the Government and the Commission that the £9 million the wage offer involved must come from economies.

Originally the Unions sought pay increases of up to ten per cent but they have recently appeared willing to settle for a four per cent rise, coupled with another wage review in the autumn.—Reuter.

HILLARY GETS AWARD

London, May 13. Queen Elizabeth has approved awards to Dr Vivian Fuchs, Sir Edmund Hillary, and their fellow polar explorers who trekked across Antarctica, the London Gazette said tonight.

Sir Edmund will receive the Polar Medal while Dr Fuchs will receive a clasp to the same medal which he already holds. The Polar Medal is also awarded to Mr George Lowe, the expedition's photographer, of Hastings, New Zealand, Mr Johannes La Grange, South African meteorologist, and Mr Jon Stephenson of Queensland, Australia.

The three men arrived here by air from their respective countries to take part in the big welcome given to the main party which arrived by sea from New Zealand yesterday.—Reuter.

Trade Mission

Djakarta, May 13. A Chinese trade mission has begun a tour of Indonesia, the News Agency reported today. The Agency said a three-man group from the China National Tradeport and Machinery was prepared to send printing, weaving machines, rice mills, and other equipment for the Indonesian small industry.—Reuter.

CAR CLUBBED AND STONED MOB ATTACKS NIXONS IN CARACAS

Caracas, May 13. A mob smashed the windows of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's car with clubs and rocks today. Fast action by US Secret Service agents saved Nixon and his wife, Pat, from death or injury. Neither was hurt.

The incident occurred after the Nixons had walked a gauntlet of spitting demonstrators at the airport and had been jeered with shouts of "Nixon, go home." Two thrown paper aeroplanes struck the Vice-President at the airport. Mrs Nixon was heckled by a student who ran to her shouting, "What about Little Rock?"

Hurl Back

A Secret Service agent was clubbed and hit with a rock while helping other agents hurl back a mob of 150 hoodlums who attacked the Cadillac caravan on a narrow street entering Caracas. Witnesses said men hurled themselves to the pavement before Nixon's closed sedan, to force it to stop. Police finally fired tear gas to scatter the mob.

The hoodlums smashed all but the front and rear windows of Nixon's car, showering the occupants with glass. Venezuelan Foreign Minister Oscar Garcia Velazquez received a cut lip. Lieut-Col Vernon Walters, Nixon's official interpreter, got a mouthful of glass. Mrs Nixon's car was attacked and the American flag ripped from it. The flag on Nixon's car also was desecrated.

US Marines Sent To Caribbean

Washington, May 13. The United States tonight sent 1,000 paratroopers and marines by air to the Caribbean area as the result of mob action against Vice-President Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela, today.

Mr Nixon and his wife, Pat, were spat upon and their car stoned and beaten with iron bars when they arrived in Caracas today for a two-day visit at the end of their Latin American tour.

IMMEDIATELY

President Eisenhower immediately ordered that the Venezuelan Charge D'Affaires be called to the State Department and told that the United States expected Venezuela to take every possible measure to protect Mr Nixon.

Later it was announced that four companies of American troops were on their way to American Caribbean bases (Trinidad or Puerto Rico) to protect Mr Nixon.

ENGINEERS LIFT BAN

London, May 13. A meeting of 6,000 British Overseas Airways Corporation engineers today decided to lift an overtime ban at London Airport from midnight tonight.

Only two hands were raised in opposition. The ban came into force over a report that BOAC planned to make 3,000 men redundant in the next three years.

The men agreed at today's meeting to "empower" their leaders to reimpose the ban and if necessary, introduce "work-to-rule" action if discussions with management officials on Friday are not satisfactory.—Reuter.

PFLIMLIN BECOMES NEW PREMIER

Paris, May 14. The French National Assembly voted Pierre Pflimlin into power as Premier today to face one of the Fourth Republic's gravest crises.

M. Pflimlin won the nomination as his country's twenty-fifth postwar Premier on an official vote of 274 to 129, with 136 abstentions.

Abstained

Communist Deputies surprisingly abstained, making his task much easier. But his election had already been virtually assured by a political crisis so grave as to make it imperative that France have a Government.

Right-wing civilians and tough paratroops joined together in a seizure of power in Algeria which directly challenged the authority of the Central Government.

Suspended

M. Pflimlin suspended the National Assembly session considering his premier-ship—bid-while—he conferred with Premier Felix Gaillard and General Ely, the Army Chief-of-Staff. When it resumed, the news of the Algerian takeover was everywhere and his chances of the premiership had been immeasurably strengthened. Still unclear as M. Pflimlin took office was the attitude of General Raoul Salan, Commander in Chief of all French forces in Algeria. He issued a statement saying he was "taking provisionally in hand the destiny of French Algeria," but it was not clear whether he was declaring for or against the dissidents.—United Press.

RICHARD NIXON
Safe and unhurt

The Nixons went immediately to the US Embassy. All scheduled ceremonies were cancelled pending measures to insure the safety of the Nixon party. The well-guarded Embassy was quiet. There was a slight demonstration outside it at mid-day. Trouble started immediately after their arrival from Bogota, Colombia, despite extra police precautions taken on the basis of reports of a possible Communist assassination attempt.—United Press.

A SEARCH FOR TWO MEN REQUESTED OWES LIFE TO JAPANESE SOLDIER

Malaya's Premier Recalls Incident
During The War

Kuala Lumpur, May 13.
Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman has asked Japanese authorities to help him locate two soldiers who served in the Japanese Occupation Army in Malaya, one of whom saved his life and another who "was very kind to me."

The Prime Minister said that he is anxious to meet the two men and revealed today that he sent a message on May 3 to Japanese authorities requesting their assistance.

He hopes to greet the men when he arrives in Japan on a goodwill visit on May 21.

The soldier who saved his life, Rahman said, was a private in the First Command of the Japanese Army who was stationed at Kulim in Kedah and taught Rahman Japanese. The Prime Minister recalls only that his name was Okamura, and that he was later wounded in the Philippines.

Rahman recalled that for six months after the Japanese occupation he was District Officer at Kulim. The commander of the local Japanese Garrison believed that Rahman was pro-British and was refusing to co-operate with the occupation forces.

The Japanese commander issued orders that all machine guns be surrendered, but local police replied that they would take orders only from Rahman. The commander issued orders that Rahman be arrested and beheaded.

At midnight Okamura called at Rahman's house to warn him of the order. The next morning Rahman walked into the commander's office and denied that he was responsible for the policeman's action.

The commander laughed and agreed to listen to what Rahman had to say. Then he agreed to drop the matter.

"Everybody thought I was going to be executed," Rahman recalled. "They were surprised to see me leave the office alive."

The other man Rahman wishes to meet is named Okamura, an officer in charge of the police district at Kulim during the occupation.

"He was very kind to me and helped me in all a lot," Rahman said, "particularly in relation to the very bad Formosan at Kulim."—United Press.

H'WOOD WANTS SORAYA AND HER LIFE STORY

Hollywood, May 13.
PRINCESS Soraya of Iran, the centre of "one of the great love stories of our time," has been offered a quarter-million dollars to star in a motion picture depicting her life story, it was revealed today.

Philip A. Waxman, independent movie producer, said that he had forwarded the offer to the recent Persian Queen, who is vacationing in Bermuda.

He said that the "age-old tradition" which promoted the Shah of Iran to divorce his childless wife despite the fact that the couple were still deeply in love aroused the "understanding and sympathy" of the world.

Waxman revealed that he has also discussed his proposal with the Princess by phone, but did not say what was her reaction.

Today he released the text of a letter he recently sent to the Princess.

"Women the world over, I am sure, share my feeling that your love story is unmatched in understanding and sympathy," he wrote. "Certainly none other has equalled it since that of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor."

"Not only is yours a fine dramatic story, but also it would create understanding and goodwill for the Iranian people. Your photographs evidence your beauty. A young woman with your education and experience in public life must have considered a screen career? This letter may kindle such thinking."

Waxman assured the Princess that the film would be produced "in excellent taste."

He offered a "sizeable cash guarantee" plus a percentage of the picture's gross receipts "which could net you several hundreds of thousands of dollars." He said that the figure could well reach the quarter-million mark.—United Press.

Glasgow's Mass Murder Case Continues

ACCUSED BOUGHT REVOLVER, COURT TOLD

Glasgow, May 13.
Peter Anthony Manuel, 31, bought a Service revolver for £5, about 10 days before three women he is alleged to have shot were found dead, a court trying him for eight murders was told today.

Manuel, Manhattan-born woodworker, has pleaded not guilty to killing six women and girls, a man and a boy, to three charges of theft, and one of car stealing.

Peter Hamilton, bookmaker's clerk, 31, said the swarthy little man accused of the eight killings had taken the 38 revolver and seven or eight bullets in a piece of rag and given him five pounds.

The previous witness, James O'Neill, 44, said Manuel had told him he wanted a gun for a holdup in Liverpool and he took him to Hamilton.

The gruesome finding of the three women's bodies in the locked house by a 57-year-old charwoman who went to work there, was described to the court.

Mrs Helen Collison, a neighbour of the Watt family, said she asked a postman to open the door and let her in to their house in Fennsbank Avenue, High Burnside, Lanarkshire on September 17.

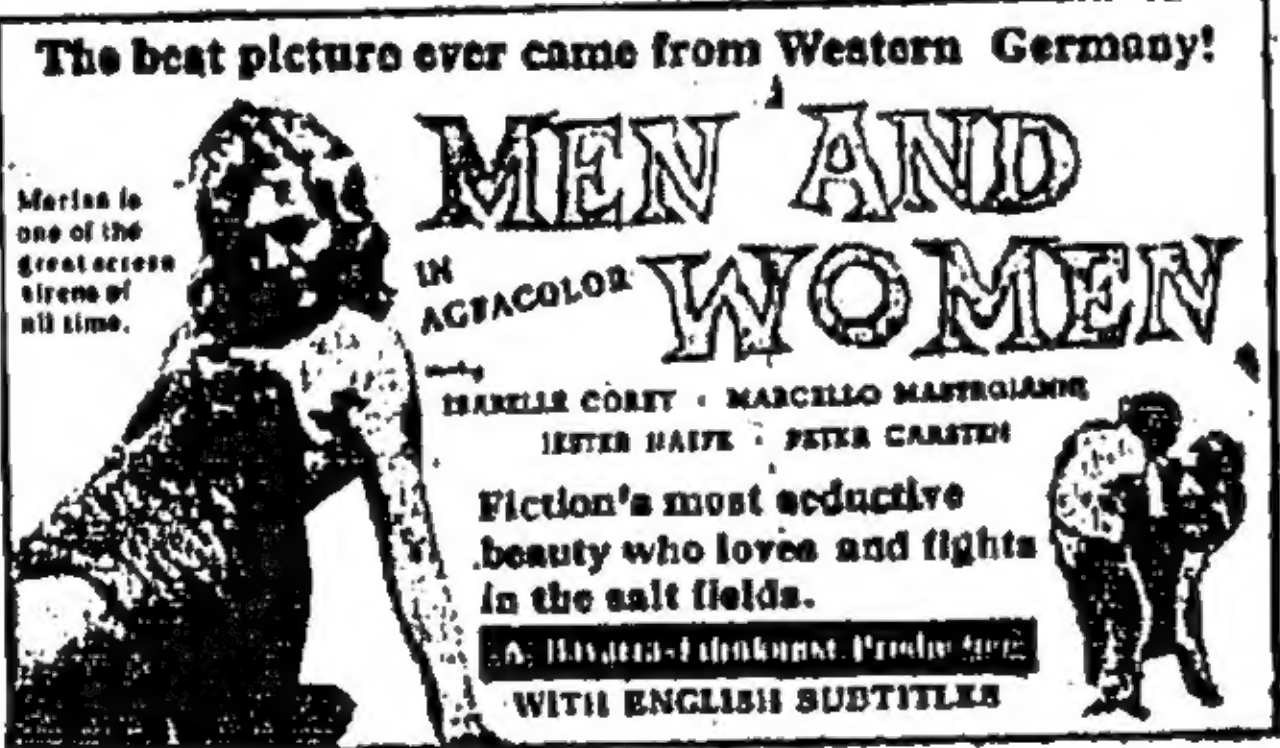

She found Mrs Marion Watt and her sister Mrs Margaret Brown shot dead in bed and 17-year-old Vivienne Watt dying in a blood-soaked bed in another room.

The husband William Watt, who Manuel in his defence has said killed the three women if anyone did, limped into court on crutches today and waited in the witness room.

Mrs Collison was cross-examined about the relations between Watt and his wife and daughter and said she had "never seen a row."—Reuter.

Oslo, May 13.
Experts today investigated a housewife's complaint that a "radioactive halo" clouded a fish pudding which she took out of her freezer last night.
The housewife, remembering reports of atom-contaminated catches, rushed the pudding to local health authorities at Notodden, near Oslo.
An official statement issued today by Mr. Fastang Nilsen, a local health service official, assured housewives that the pudding was luminous, not radioactive.
He explained that small organisms in the fish store up light, which sometimes give a radioactive look to fish pudding—a traditional Norwegian dish of fish paste, milk and flour.—China Mail Special.

Paris Designer In Cannes Incident

M. Saint-Laurent At Film Festival

Cannes, May 13.
French fashion designer, Yves Saint-Laurent, successor to the late Christian Dior, was the unwilling centre of a violent dispute at the Cannes film festival today.

The dispute arose when Saint-Laurent and Pierre Berger, private secretary to the famous artist, Bernard Buffet, presented themselves at the Palais de Festival, for the showing of the Chateau film "La Caille Ovidienne".
Saint-Laurent, who had no ticket, was refused admission, and a heated argument broke out between Berger and the controller, Cinema director, Pierre Colis, intervened.
Saint-Laurent walked off in obvious embarrassment, and Berger took up the argument with Colis, calling him an "idiot".
The incident ended with Berger challenging Colis to a duel after the latter had slapped his face.—France-Press.

Macmillan On Rumoured Clash With Air Force

Premier Defends RAF Heads

Accused Of Public Attacks On Govt. Policy

London, May 13.
Mr Harold Macmillan, Prime Minister, today defended Air Force chiefs who have been accused of public attacks on the Government's defence policy.

He told the House of Commons he was assured that nothing they had said at a recent conference conflicted with declared policy.

The Prime Minister was facing a barrage of questions from Labour Opposition critics about the conference, which has led to widespread speculation that there is a clash between service chiefs and Mr Duncan Sandys, the Minister of Defence.

The rumoured dispute is over plans to switch completely from planes to guided missiles.
The conference—given the code name "Project"—was attended by 300 service chiefs, politicians, industrialists, and trade union leaders.
Some newspapers criticized the fact that the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen, was present at a meeting at which "government policy was attacked."

Mr Macmillan told his questioners: "The purpose of the conference was to expound to a widely representative audience some of the problems which the Royal Air Force sees ahead—many of them a considerable way ahead—and to ventilate for discussion various possible solutions."
He added: "I am assured nothing was said at the conference which conflicted with the Government's declared defence policy."—Reuter.

The radio said President Soekarno was now solely concerned "in changing the red and white flag of Indonesia, to red only."

A Government announcement said that nine French military trucks crossed the Algerian frontier yesterday morning near the Shail El Frid river.
Two Tunisian men and a two-year-old girl as well as some animals were taken back into Algerian territory by French soldiers in the trucks, the announcement said.
The French authorities had no comment.—United Press.

COTTON: A RAY OF HOPE?

Outcome Of Discussions With India & Pakistan

London, May 13.
The Manchester Guardian today saw a ray of hope in the outcome of discussions with Pakistan and India on limitation of cotton goods imported into Britain.

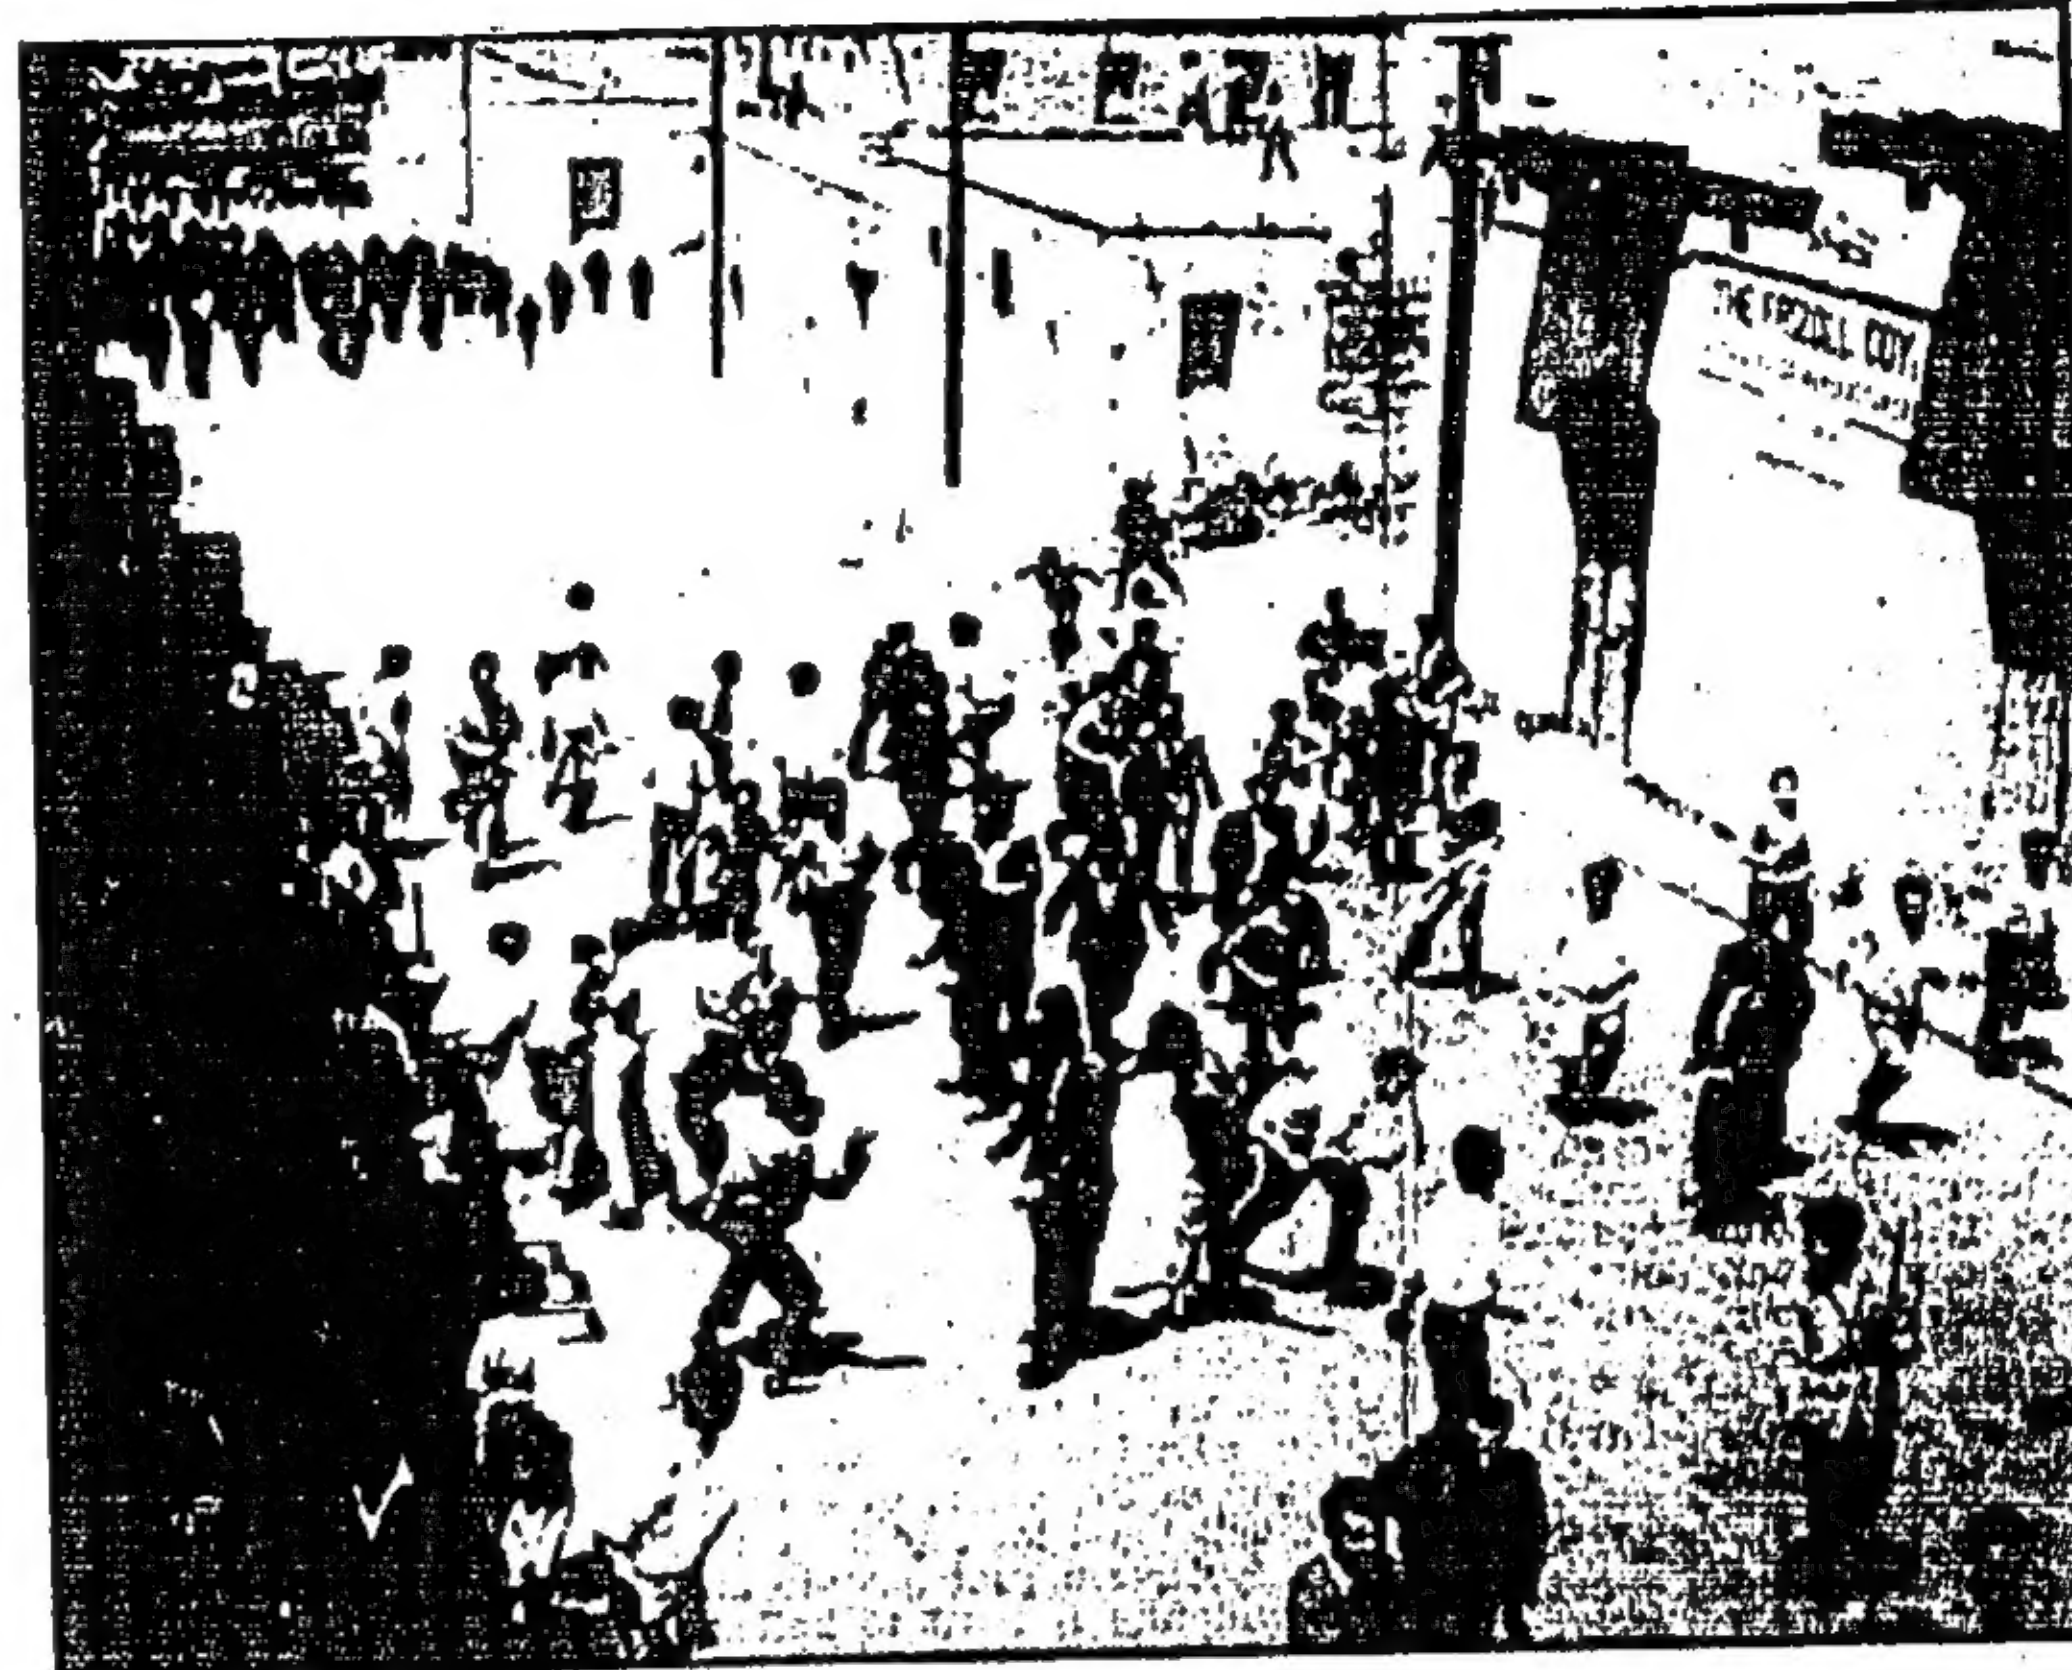

The Cotton Board announced last night that no agreement had been reached on actual limitations but the Manchester Guardian pointed out that Lancashire representatives did succeed in persuading the two Asian countries to accept the principle of limitation of imports.

"This must have been much more difficult in current circumstances than it was when the question was first raised as, at that time, world trade in cotton goods was in much more satisfactory condition than it is now."
Sir Cuthbert Clegg and his colleagues have accomplished something for which Lancashire spinners and manufacturers will be grateful, the Manchester Guardian said in its trade notes.

The commentator also said that although it seemed clear no agreement had been reached on a limitation formula it was too early to give up hope that one will be found.
"Various possibilities are still being considered and it may be taken for granted that Lancashire will not relax its efforts to ensure that the matter does not end with a compromise of the principle of limitation," the Manchester Guardian said.
Earlier this year the same agreement "in principle" was reached in talks with Hong-kong manufacturers but the conditions attached to a formula were too harsh for the Lancashire negotiators.

The Hongkong Industrialists' action was later described as "closing and boiling the door" but now, according to the Manchester Guardian, the door has now been placed ajar by the outcome of the talks with India and Pakistan.—United Press.

Violence In Valetta

VIOLENCE flared recently in Malta as the island shut down under a successful general strike.
Rioters battled with police. Two British soldiers were slightly injured. A Navy tug and three Army trucks were set on fire. Telephone wires and the masts of Malta's radio station were hacked down. The station is now off the air. Picture shows police charging rioters on Pawla Hill.—Express Photo.

Turned Down

Cairo, May 13.
Two Britons convicted of espionage in 1950 lost their last chance of receiving clemency through the courts here today.

Appeals on behalf of James Swinburn and James Zarb were turned down by the Court of Cassation, Egypt's highest court.

The only possibility of clemency left for them now is an order from President Gamal Abdel Nasser.—United Press.

Proposal To Cut US Foreign Aid Beaten

Washington, May 13.
The House defeated overwhelmingly today a move to chop all economic assistance from the Foreign Aid Bill.

The vote—the first on the aid programme—was 102 to 59 against an amendment by Representative William M. Cramer (Democrat, Mississippi).

Mr Cramer had proposed substituting a $2,005,000,000 military programme only for the combined $3,003,000,000 military-economic aid bill.

Mr Cramer, second-ranking Democrat on the powerful House rules committee, likened the aid programme to a "malignancy" that has grown and spread "until today it threatens to destroy the economy of this country."

REVISION

But Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (Democrat, Pennsylvania), acting chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee, said the plan would mean "a basic revision of our foreign policy."
"The entire mutual security programme would be scuttled," he declared.

Another Foreign Affairs committee member, Rep. Wayne L. Hays (Democrat, Ohio) called economic aid "by far the most important part" of the programme.—United Press.

The US Doesn't Expect Attack On Dutch N. Guinea

Washington, May 13.
The American State Department said today the United States had no reason to anticipate an armed attack on Dutch New Guinea.

The statement was issued after the Dutch Ambassador called on Mr John Foster Dulles, the Secretary of State, to discuss the official denial of a statement Mr Dulles was said to have made at the NATO conference in Copenhagen last week.

The American Embassy in Jakarta reported three days ago that Mr Dulles had denied he told the conference that any Indonesian attack on Dutch New Guinea would have serious consequences for Asia and the Western world.

The Dutch Ambassador, Mr J. H. Van Roijen, said today: "That denial caused certain apprehensions in the Netherlands. The inference might be drawn in Indonesia that the United States would be indifferent to an armed attack by Indonesia on New Guinea."

The State Department said Mr Dulles told Mr Van Roijen "that the United States had no reason to anticipate any such attack."—Reuter.

PRIMITIVE

There are about 5,000 of these people who according to Beyer are among the most primitive and isolated aborigines today and the least subjected to government.

Beyer, who is doing research on the country's aborigines, takes a dim view of occasional Constabulary drives against headhunters.

"Usually they bring back the wrong fellow," says Beyer. "In the long run, nobody wins."
Mayor Dionisio Sarandi of Midselan town believes there is little stopping the Ilongots whose intensified head-hunting activities in season are motivated by tribal traditions.

BLOOD HOUNDS

Sarandi says that government forces and even bloodhounds could not stop head-hunting. "The Ilongots have laid traps in unexplored jungles that threaten the lives of troops at every turn," says Sarandi.

"The best solution is to prevent the settlers from going out of town."

The trouble is, agrees Dr Beyer, the Ilongots have been forgotten—too long.—United Press.

YOUR BIRTHDAY ... By STELLA

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14

BORN today, you have an intense desire for life and you want something exciting going on all the time. You have strong feelings and don't hesitate to show them. You have enough energy and tact to say exactly what you think and make people like it. You probably will travel a great deal and it will be happy if your work takes you into every corner of the earth.

The stars have marked you for recognition in your profession, and since you have a good head for business, it is likely that you will achieve a definite measure of material wealth as well. You have the knack for making a success of practically anything you undertake. You have sound judgment and even know how to turn a liability into an asset. You also have an instinct for knowing just when to make the right move. To everyone else, it may look like the wrong time to start something, but for you it is exactly the right moment. Some, of course, will call you an opportunist. But that very least is what often brings you to success.

You have a sharp sense of humor, but are, unfortunately, somewhat prone to playing practical jokes on people. This is all well and good if you are careful about your victim. Some people enjoy horseplay; others don't. And don't get angry when someone plays a joke on you.

You have a fiery, dramatic disposition and often say things when angry that you regret the moment your temper has cooled off. Learn to count to ten before you answer in wrath and you will be playing it safe. Weed someone who can keep pace with you culturally and intellectually to get the most happiness and contentment in marriage.

Among those born on this date were: George Harrington, Irish-born Australian historian; Sir Hall Caine and James Negley Farnon, authors; Timothy Swift, student of Yale; Sir Squire Baneroff, actor-manager; William Hickling Prescott, historian; and Gabriel D. Fahrenheit, physicist.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. In your birthday star be your daily guide.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Continue something already begun. Take the lead and press forward toward some important objective.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)—Aspects continue fair, but make sure that your judgment is sound before committing yourself on any important matter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)—If a legal problem comes up in connection with your work, seek a practical solution now. Deal fairly with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)—A day in which property and real estate matters may need your careful attention. Balance your accounts carefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)—Opportunities for advancement arise, but use your best judgment in making a decision. Consider all angles before committing yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)—Money can prove the basis for misunderstanding. Be prudent, tactful and diplomatic in all dealings yet protect your own interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—You may need to act in a matter of business or finance which will influence your future. Be astute.

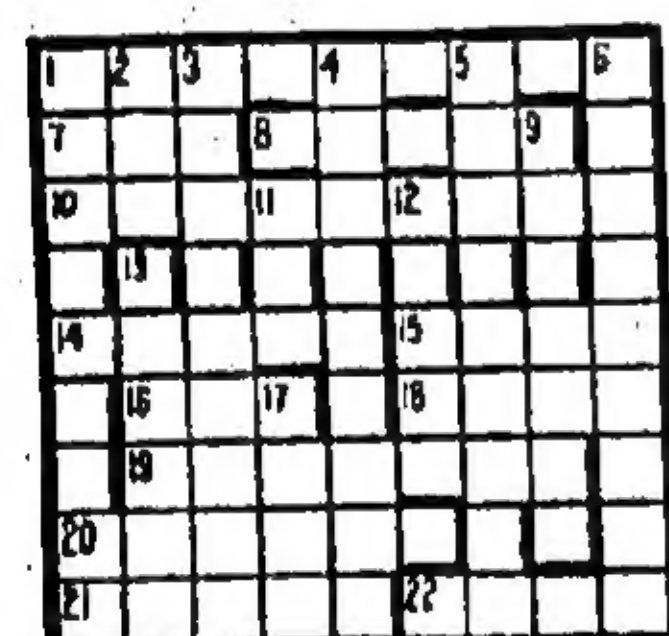

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 22)—Watch the details of a business deal near a handshake. Don't give up the controls.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 23-Feb. 19)—Legal matters come up for decision, but if there is the slightest doubt in your mind, postpone judgment until later.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—There may be some who will try a delaying action in a matter in which you are interested. Be tactful but firm.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Wind up pending affairs, but wait until later on in the week to develop an entirely new project. Avoid a legal tangle.

Excellent Play Saves Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY

WEST opened the ten of hearts and after dummy played low East played the seven spot and Possessive Pete won with his queen.

"I guess everything will be wrong as usual," he mumbled and proceeded to lead the ten of clubs and let it ride. East false-carded with the king and returned his singleton trump. Pete went up with the ace, led his low club to dummy's ace and continued with the jack.

East played low but Pete simply discarded his losing heart.

This held Pete's losses to one trump, one diamond and one club and he made his contract.

Pete wasn't playing with mirrors. He had simply executed a nice safety play. Suppose West had held the queen of clubs. He would have taken a trick with it but now dummy's nine of clubs would be high and would furnish a parking place for Pete's losing diamond.

Of course Pete could have taken and lost the trump finesse and still made his contract by guessing the location of the club queen but Pete does not like to guess when he doesn't have to.

As Pete says, "Everything is bad everywhere."

WOMANSENSE FIVE FASHION CAMEOS

THE all-important back interest is achieved in this dress by a soft blouse which is buttoned on at the back of the shoulders. In front it terminates in a bow that ties at the waist. Removed, it reveals a simple chemise with seaming to shape the front slightly from bust to waist.

INCREASINGLY there is emphasis on the line that effects a compromise between the very fitted and the very relaxed or straight silhouette. It is a feature of this smart daytime dress. The line is chemise, it's true but a modified version.

THE semi-fitted dress is high fashion now. This one is of navy crepe, completely lined in tulle. The yoke is topped by a cowl neckline. Seaming gives some suggestion of shape to the dress, which can be worn with or without a belt.

DACRON and cotton are combined for a young-looking night dress—in pale pink with a cherry-red velvet sash or in pale blue with a pale green sash. A band of lace-edged sheer marquisette is embroidered to match the fabric color. The bodice is permanently pleated in front and the hemline is scalloped.

HERE is a nice bit of turn-about magic cooked up for summer evenings. The dress is of navy and green polka-dotted pure silk, cut on shawl lines with very narrow shoulder straps. Over it is shown a green chiffon blouse with high draped neck in front, terminating in a deep V with bow and dress-length panel.

Watching A Tournament

—An Exciting Contest Is Held In Pine Tree Grove—

By MAX TRELL

KNARF and Hanid, the About Names, could hardly believe their eyes.

What happened was this: They were standing in front of the door to O'Cheer Hall, in the trunk of the Old Oak where the Pixies lived, when there were footsteps on the stairs. Who should come out but Pixie O'Scowl, followed by Pixie McSnooze!

Important Word

Pixie O'Scowl was wearing a thick woollen sweater with the word "Umpire" written across it.

Pixie McSnooze was also wearing a sweater. Across his chest were the words "Assistant Umpire".

Knarf and Hanid shouted: "Hello, Pixie O'Scowl! Hello, Pixie McSnooze!"

Pixie McSnooze returned their greeting by yawning and rubbing his eyes. But Pixie O'Scowl simply said: "Go 'way! We're busy! Come along, McSnooze!" and started off at a fast pace across the field and into the Pine Tree Grove.

Knarf and Hanid caught up with them. Hanid grabbed Pixie O'Scowl's arm.

"All right!" announced Pixie O'Scowl. "The first event is a fifty-inch dash."

A Mouse, a Grasshopper, some of the Potato Bugs and the Snail all stepped up to the line.

"On your mark, get ready, set—GO!" shouted Pixie McSnooze, trying his best not to fall asleep.

All the runners started off except the Snail, who crawled slowly in the opposite direction.

Knarf and Hanid cheered all the runners. The Mouse won the race.

Grasshopper Won

The next event was the broad jump. It was between the Grasshopper and the Toad. The Grasshopper won. He jumped twenty-two feet and landed in the middle of a tree!

Each Pixie's sweater had a word written on it.

Rupert and the Silent Land—32

Rupert's astonishment at being pulled through a cloud is even greater when a solid looking door appears before them. "Here, what is this?" he asks. "Is it a cloud or ...?" But his momentary speech is little companion waving round with a frown and motions.

Surrey Score Easy Victory Over Gloucestershire

London, May 13.

Surrey took the first step in their bid for their seventh successive English County Cricket Championship when they decisively beat Gloucestershire by nine wickets at the Oval here. For a time early in the day it seemed that they might be forced to fight hard for victory but a devastating bowling spell of 4-4-0-5 by Jim Laker changed all that and Surrey were left to score only 48 to win.

Over at Lords, Middlesex gained their second successive victory of the new season, beating Leicestershire by eight wickets. Jack Robertson (89 not out) dominated the batting when Middlesex tackled the job of scoring 93 to win. He hit 48 of the opening partnership of 65 with John Gale and made the winning hit with a boundary stroke.

At Edgbaston Warwickshire kept an anxious watch on the skies. Needing 95 to beat Sussex, they had the experience of twice being driven into the pavilion by rain. But they ran out winners by seven wickets, and like Surrey and Middlesex also received two bonus points for their faster scoring in the first innings.

The highlight of the final day's programme in the current fixtures was Yorkshire's wild-weather hitlist to match first innings lead and eight points in their match against Hampshire which was restricted to a one-day match because of the weather.

It was their first bowler, Freddie Trueman, who gained them the points, with his brilliant 58 not out in half an hour, including three sixes and six fours. Derek Shackleton, Hampshire's pace bowler, conceded 64 runs in seven overs.

Yorkshire had been left 55 minutes to get 106 runs for the points, after Hampshire had declared at 105 for seven. Scoring at the rate of 115 runs an over, they hit off the run in four minutes to spare.—Reuter.

At Bradford: Match drawn. Hampshire 105 for seven declared. Yorkshire 100 for three (F. Trueman 58 not out). (Yorkshire eight points).

At Lords: Middlesex beat Leicestershire by eight wickets. Leicestershire 125 and 135 (W. Watson 89). Middlesex 188 and 193 for two (J. Robertson 89 not out). (Middlesex 14 points).

At the Oval: Surrey beat Gloucestershire by nine wickets. Surrey 331 for seven declared and 50 for one. Gloucestershire 128 and 257 (R. Nicholls 64, C. Emmett 59, J. Laker 7 for 56). (Surrey 14 points).

At Oxford: Derbyshire beat Oxford University by 134 runs. Derbyshire 330 and 180. Oxford University 148 and 234 (A. Smith 57, M. Eagar 45, D. Plachaud 40, E. Smith 6 for 70).

At Cambridge: Match drawn. Lancashire 312. Cambridge University 167 and 286 for six (R. Pridoux 98, E. Dexter 59 not out).—Reuter.

New Zealand Win

Hford, May 13.

The New Zealand Cricketers beat Essex by 48 runs here today to gain the second victory of their English tour.

Final scores were: New Zealanders—140 and 203, Essex—130 and 105.

Starting the final day with all their second innings wickets intact and needing 214 runs for victory, Essex were all out for 105 before tea, despite a typical back to the wall innings by England all-rounder Trevor Bailey.

The imperturbable Bailey defied the tourists, for three hours, 25 min., while scoring 71, which included 10 boundaries. He came to the wicket when the County had lost three wickets for 21 runs in 25 minutes, and batted doggedly in a great effort to turn this disastrous start into a victory for Essex. He was last man out.

An eighth wicket stand of 56 between Bailey and Roy Ralph carried Essex to within 40 runs of their goal but then the innings collapsed with dramatic suddenness, the last three wickets all falling at 105.

The New Zealand attack was always hostile and pace men Bob Blair and Jon Hayes sometimes made their deliveries rise dangerously. Bailey took some punishment in the way of strokes on the fingers and elbows but nothing deterred him from his would-be match-saver until, with the last man in, he hit a ball hard into the hands of mid-on.

Legspinner John Alabaster had the best bowling figures with three for 23.

SPARKS CARDS' COMEBACK WITH WIN OVER CUBS

New York, May 13.

Stan Musial made his 3,000th Major League hit a good one today, driving in a run with a pinch double in the sixth innings to spark a St. Louis Cardinal comeback for a 5-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Musial's blow led the Cards to their sixth straight win over the Cubs and extended the Chicago losing streak to seven games.

In the sixth, after Gene Green doubled and Hal Smith grounded out with the Cards trailing 3-1, Musial came in to hit for pitcher Sam Jones. The first pitch to him was a ball and he fouled off the next. He took a called strike, and then stepped back from an inside pitch. But he leveled on the next throw by pitcher Moe Drabowsky, driving the ball deep into left field.

Frank Barnes, who came in to run for Musial, remained on second while Dick Schofield walked and then scored the tying run on Don Blasingame's single. Both Schofield and Blasingame scored later on Wally Moon's double.

First Run

The Cards' first run was unearned, coming on a walk, two errors, and a single. Drabowsky, who gave up all of the Cardinal runs, suffered his third loss against one win.

Lee Walls was the hero of the Chicago attack, hitting his tenth homer of the season and driving in another run with a sacrifice fly.

Ernie Barnes also hit a sacrifice fly to score the Cubs' other run.

Willie Mays and Daryl Spencer each clouted a pair of home runs in a 20-hit barrage that enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to win.

Glants to crush the Los Angeles Dodgers, 10-9.

The Glants hit a total of five homers and the Dodgers four to come within one of the National League record of 10. Mays hit his seventh and eighth homers of the season in the first and second innings and also had two triples and a single to drive in four runs. Spencer hit safely four times and drove in six runs.

Orlando Cepeda, who also homered for the Glants, had four hits as did teammates Bob Schmidt and Danny O'Connell. Charlie Dodgers while Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges each hit one. Al Worthington, the Glants' third pitcher, was the winner and Rookie Fred Kipp the loser.

THE SHAH ARRIVES IN HONGKONG

Five-hour Stopover Before Flying To Formosa

His Imperial Majesty the Shah of Iran arrived this morning on a five-hour stopover en-route to Taipei and Japan for state visits.

The Shah and his party of 12 were met at the airport by H.E. the Governor, Sir Robert Black, and H.E. the Commander British Forces, Lt-General Sir Edric Bastyan, who were accompanied by their aides.

A 21-gun royal salute was fired by HMS Tamar and the 55 Battery of the 49 Field Regiment, R.A., on the arrival of the royal visitor. Ships of the Royal Navy and those of the United States Navy in harbour were dressed overall.

The four-engine Vickers Viscount of the Iranian Airways, which carried the royal visitor, touched down at Kai Tak at 8.40 this morning and as the Shah stepped out of the plane, he was welcomed by the Governor and Lt-General Bastyan. The Shah was then invited to inspect a Guard of Honour formed by the 1 Bn. the Green Howards, with the regimental band of the battalion in attendance.

The Shah was accompanied by the Commander British Forces during the inspection.

The Shah and his entourage then adjourned to the VIP room for refreshments and a rest.

Following the arrival and while the Shah was at the airport, a strong force of both uniformed police and plainclothesmen provided a strong security guard.

After a short stop at the VIP room Sir Robert Black, Sir Edric Bastyan and the Shah boarded the Governor's launch, Lady Mairine, to cross the harbour. They landed at Queen's Pier at 9.30 a.m. and went to Government House where the Shah will lunch with the Governor before leaving for Taipei early this afternoon.

The Shah will be travelling to Formosa for a five-day state visit and then will go to Japan for a longer state visit of more than a month.

Come And See Iran Now!

While the Shah was at the airport, Mr. M. M. Nemazee, the only Iranian in Hongkong, and his Chinese wife, were presented to him. The Shah expressed pleasure at seeing his two subjects and asked Mr. Nemazee how long he had been living in Hongkong.

Mr. Nemazee said he had been here for 32 years. The Shah advised Mr. and Mrs. Nemazee to visit Iran one day. It was a wonderful country now, he told them.

EMPIRE SOCIETY CHANGES NAME

The following release, issued by the Chairman, Earl De La Warr, has been received from the Royal Empire Society on the occasion of the change of name of the Society:

This is a historic occasion for the Royal Empire Society. Today, Her Majesty The Queen has, by Order in Council, approved a change of name to the Royal Commonwealth Society. Our Empire has grown into a Commonwealth of free nations because of Britain's deliberate policy towards her imperial responsibilities. What has happened today, therefore, is not a retreat but a direct fulfilment of the noble work done by our fathers and grandfathers in taking our traditions of liberal law and material progress to every quarter of the globe. We remember, venerate and build on the past, but look forward with courage and confidence to the future: courage to meet the splendid challenge of growth, and confidence in the unique value of the free nations known as the British Commonwealth.
